MARGARET LARLHAM

BREATH AND LIGHT

NEW PAINTINGS

Originally from Durban, South Africa, Margaret Larlham is a San Diego County lifelong artist who travels and paints in America, Africa and Europe. When in San Diego she likes to focus on painting this area's wild and local terrain with an eye to the chaparral. These she calls "the self determined hardy things". Larlham lives in a rich creative world. She has been active in the visual arts, storytelling, dance and theatre her entire adult life and is a recently retired tenured member of the faculty in the School of Theatre, Television and Film at San Diego State University. Margaret Larlham now paints full time, in pastel as well as in oil.
