Santa Ysabel, Ca. - Stan Solleder Goudey, award winning California painter, will exhibit his watercolor and acrylic paintings at the Santa Ysabel Art Gallery, beginning Saturday, October 16.

Solleder-Goudey, who has made his home in Julian and San Diego, has appeared in many juried shows, winning first prize in international juried watercolor competitions.

He has worked at various design studios and assignments as illustrator for such publications as Oceans Magazine, Psychology Today and college textbooks.

Solleder Goudey said "Aside from some of the technical considerations of my paintings such as concept, color and composition, I feel that any work is successful only to the degree that it is able to express the mysterious aspects of those things that I see and experience. Although my work is representational, it must transcend the subject matter and seek a certain moodiness."

His work can be found in collections through out the United States, Europe and Canada.

The exhibit opens with a reception for the artist, Saturday, October 16 from 4 until 8 p.m., and the public is invited. The exhibit continues through November 28.

The Santa Ysabel Art Gallery is located at 30352 Highway 78, Santa Ysabel. Hours are 10 a.m., until 5 p.m., Wednesday through Sunday. Call 765-1676 for more information.
